THERE are no Republican members of the Mississippi Legislature. The appearance House is Democratic; the lower House How unanimously unanimous it is down that way, to be sure!

THE late windometer of the Pope eratic party has been hornswoggled into an interview concerning Mr. McKinley's Secretary of the Treasury; and here's what he says:

"Mr. Gaze is a daisy. Greenbacks chould, he says, he retired and eliver prochased under the Sherman Act should be sold and Treasury notes releemed and canceled. Then we ought to have bank notes that are redeemable only in gold. And he also says the Gowernment should not act as a warehouse for either gold or silver. There is no doubt about Mr. Gaze being a daisy. I wonder if he would like to inaugarate a system by which we would have to obtain his permission each morning to live throughout the day?"

To your last query, BILLIE, Nay!

To your last query, BILLIE, Nay But if you 'uns had triumphed, then it might well be asked if a Goldbug had any rights which a Free-silveroon was bound to respect.

IT is proposed to spend more than million dollars in road building and road improving in the little state of New Jersey in the current year. An additional appropriation of $300,000 by the Legislature has just been prayed for. It is claimed by those who are most interested that no influence contributes more to make a state inviting to settlers than do good roads. Jerseyites have tried them and in spite of the gigantic mosquitoes along their coast have found they work. THE LEDGER man made a circuit through New Jersey a couple of summers since, and after eeing the good roads there a glimpse at a Kentucky road is enough to provoke deliberate murder of the King's English. A million dollars spent annually in Kentucky for a few years in making the soads better, using convict labor for the same, would probably prove more effective than in New Jersey, for Ken tucky has a half dozen other advantages to New Jersey's one.
